INTRODUCTION

As graduation arrives for Freshmen at Briscoe Junior High School, let us first recall some of the many mixed emotions felt by students and teachers alike here at Briscoe.

There are some who may forget the joy of winning a football game, the seriousness of a report card, the tenseness before a test is distributed, the rowdiness of a pep-rally, or the stillness of serious students at work in the library, but there are few who will forget the many warm friendships that have developed through the years and will continue on long after school is out.

May this yearbook be a lasting memoir of our days at Briscoe.

What is turned on when we're turned on and gone when we're turned off, and when it's gone, there's nothing left but a shell-
the sound and shape and color,
without meaning.
Years and years from now
when we look back
the sound and shape and color
will be gone
and all that will be left is the soul-what lived within and made it real and was the reason why.
Here,
with introspective camera,
we've tried to find the soul
in the shell
in the year.

IN SCHOOL WE EXPERIENCE . . .

Depression and Frustration in Math Class

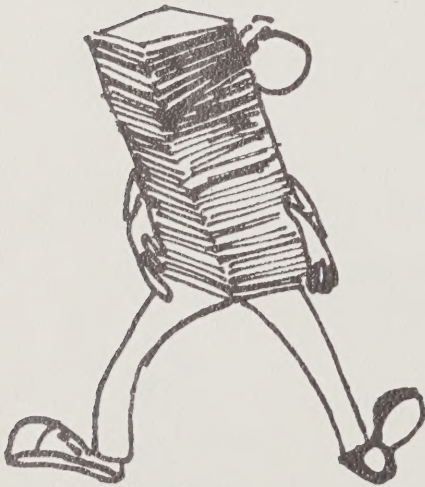

The feeling of elation that I had earlier in the morning is replaced by a feeling of depression and frustration when I walk into my math class. The teacher is bent over the desk, planning the day's tortures. I go to my seat and sit down, and after looking at the "simple" problems on the board, I write my name, period, and division in the proper place on my paper. After this brief ritual is completed, I begin to write down the problems and start to work on them.

After what seems an eternity, but is actually only forty minutes, I hear a dull buzzing sound. "It's the bell!" I cry with relief. Within seconds I'm on my way to my next class.

School is getting too much homework, not being able to chew gum,

being served macaroni and cheese,
being late for class and running into Mr. Battis, knowing every answer except the one the teacher asks you.

DEPRESSION HAPPINESS FRUSTRATION

Now FOR a
Small Home
WORK assignment.

John M. Libano

Happiness is

Happiness is lunch time when you need another penny, and all of a sudden one hits you on the head.

Happiness is 2:15 and you're the first one out the door.

Happiness is talking in detention hall when the disciplinarian has to leave.

Frustration

Frustration is when you've studied all night for a test, but you flunk because the test only made you more confused.

Frustration is when you practice and practice to be a cheerleader, but you are not picked during the tryouts.

Frustration is when you're writing an essay or making a speech, and you can't seem to get across to everyone exactly how you feel.

Most of all, frustration is when you want to go out with someone very much, and when he finally asks you out, you can't go.

IN THE HALLS IN A QUIET ROOM IN THE GYM

FREEDOM

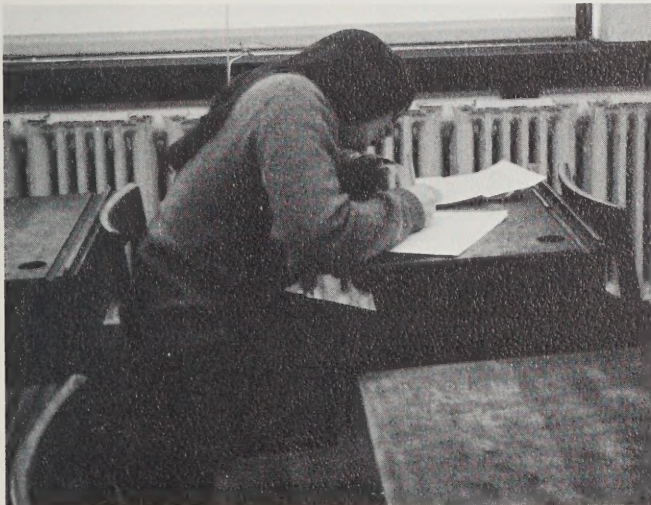

Due to the never ceasing effort of Briscoe's faculty and Student Council, we were granted extra privileges this year. Among these was the right to go to lockers and lavatories between class periods. We welcomed this freedom, but we realized that if the rules were violated, the privileges would be taken away from us.

Noise resounds through the corridors when students change classes. Brian Nelson, William DiPaolo, and Michael Jenness seem to enjoy the confusion, however.

CONTEMPLATION

Sometimes it is best to have a little peace and quiet, a little time to ourselves. We need it just to think about our lives and our relationship with others. All too often we get so wrapped up in the hectic world of today that we forget this need for thoughtful contemplation.

It is sometimes difficult to find a place to study quietly, but Sue Williams managed to review for a test in one of the smaller study halls on the third floor.

TENSENESS

Since sports are very important in our lives, the gym has been a very busy place during and after school hours. Every student is required to take physical education at least twice a week. Many of us spend much more time playing our favorite sports.

During the year we participate in such sports as basketball, field hockey and gymnastics. Occasionally the boys enjoy boxing and wrestling matches as well as football.

Several students await the results of a face-off between their teammates, while Mr. Gniewek supervises.

AT ASSEMBLIES . . .

Thanksgiving was the setting for one of several concerts and assemblies this year. Part of the program was devoted to the reading of compositions written by students on the meaning of Thanksgiving. In addition, the football team and the cheerleaders exchanged roles and provided an amusing skit.

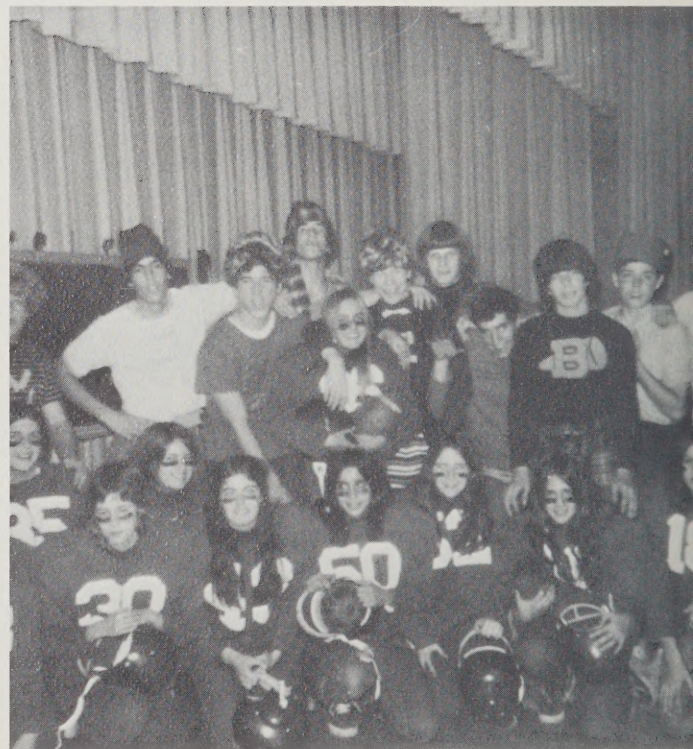

Preparations for an assembly are often hectic, and the Briscoe Band found this was true just before the Christmas Assembly. Just the same, Mrs. Darby managed to keep things in hand.

PATRIOTISM

At the Thanksgiving Assembly the special chorus sang a patriotic song.

LAUGHTER

The busy football season kept both the cheerleaders and the football team active, but the girls and the boys found time, nevertheless, to exchange roles at the Thanksgiving Assembly.

INTERMINGLED WITH SERIOUSNESS

The first public appearance of the 1970-71 chorus was the Winter Concert. Under the direction of Miss Anderson, the choral performance was a success.

At the Winter Concert the Briscoe Brass, conducted by Mrs. Darby, presented several well-rehearsed contemporary songs.

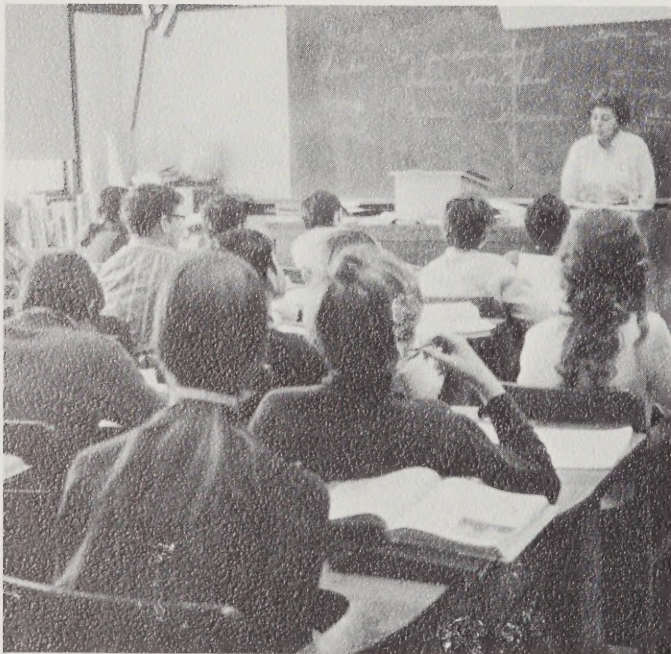

Briscoe's Winter Band and Chorus concert was held on December 11. The concert included four numbers by the chorus, a duet by Cathy Boudreau and Debbie Ploss, and four numbers by the special chorus. Joyce Hemeon, the chorus accompanist, played a piano solo of her own composition. The Briscoe Band played seven numbers, and the Briscoe Brass played three popular songs. On display in the corridors was art work by Briscoe students.

WE FEEL GRATEFUL ABOUT RECEIVING HELP FROM

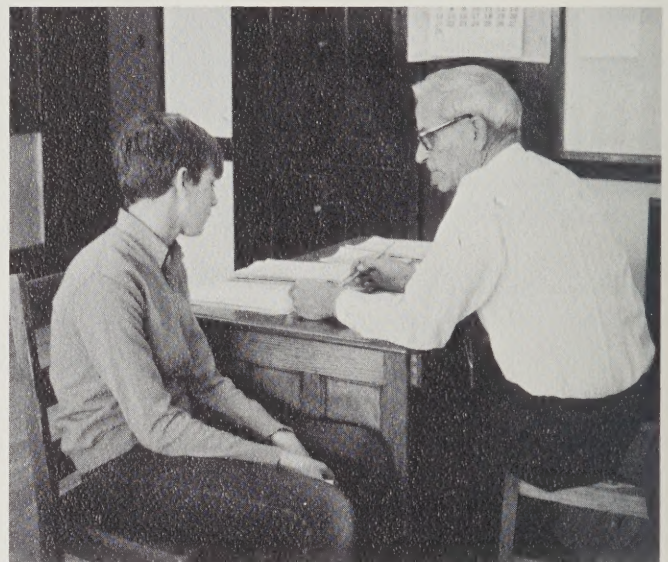

GUIDANCE COUNSELORS

At Briscoe, as at any school, the relationship between students and teachers is very important. Mutual respect is needed so that pupils and teachers can help and understand one another. Many of us have received personal help from the members of Briscoe's faculty. We are able to talk about our problems, and our teachers, in turn, try to advise and prepare us for what lies ahead.

TEACHERS

Students listen attentively as Mrs. Casey explains one of the miracles of science.

Mr. Brown, one of Briscoe's fine guidance counselors, advises Daniel Rollins about possible courses to elect in the ninth grade.

The Briscoe guidance staff consists of two full time members - Mr. Dunn and Mr. Fallon - and three part time members - Mrs. Bingham, Miss Lucci, and Mr. Brown.

During our three years here they discuss our grades periodically and, if necessary, issue weekly report cards. They help us plan our courses of study, and each quarter they examine warning cards as well as honor cards.

In addition to their regular duties, counselors may administer intelligence and achievement tests. They also spend a great deal of their time helping us with our problems in school and at home. Planning field trips and special assemblies are also their responsibility.

The staff of janitors and matrons that work at Briscoe are diligent, hard-working people. They keep the school building clean, monitor the corridors, and help us and teachers when any maintenance problems arise.

Mrs. Corriveau, a matron on the second floor, assists a pupil who is having a problem opening her locker while Mr. DeRobertis stands by.

AND CUSTODIANS

The Battle

Armed with hand and foot,
The movable opponent advances,
The battle is about to begin,
They regard each other,
Onè very glum and grim.

Screeches of insufferable pain,
Fill the quiet corridor,
The battle is quickly won,
The locker loses another one!

R. Nathans

WHILE WE LEARN.

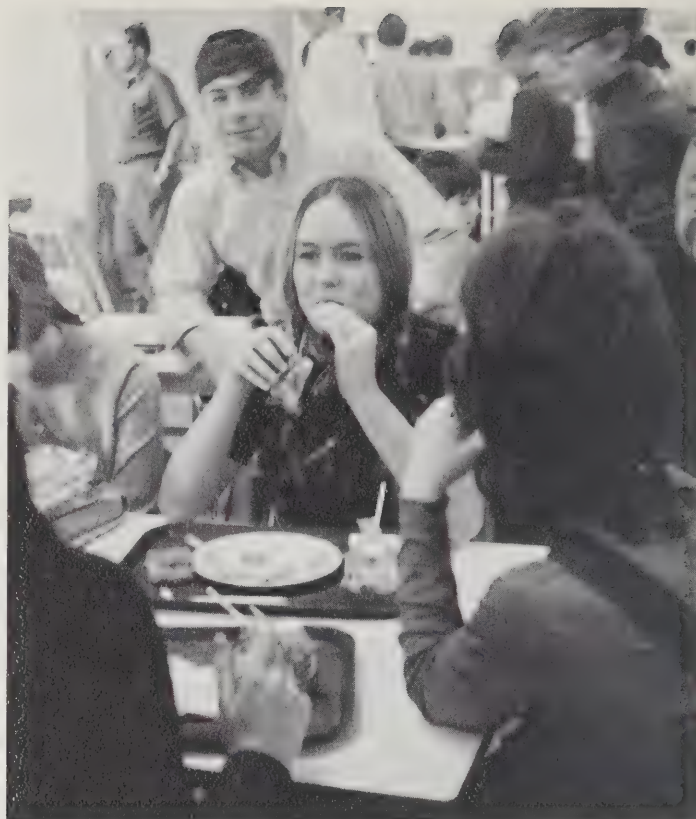

Working with paper and other art materials, Bruce Essler creates an original project.

With assistance from David Carnevale, Mr. Allen explains an important art assignment.

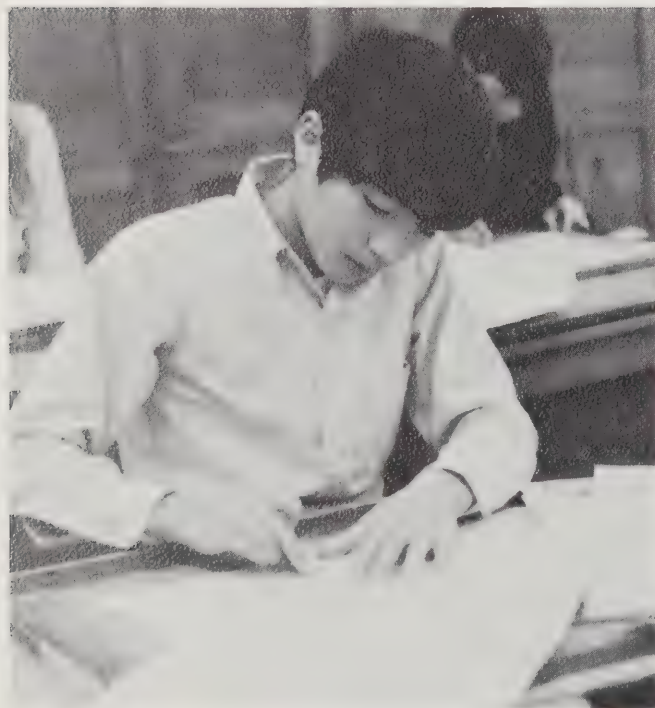

A SCHOOL DAY MEANS CONFUSION

Lunch time is a welcome break during the day for most of us. In the cafeteria we may socialize with our neighbors, and on nice days we are allowed to go outside the building.

QUIET STUDY

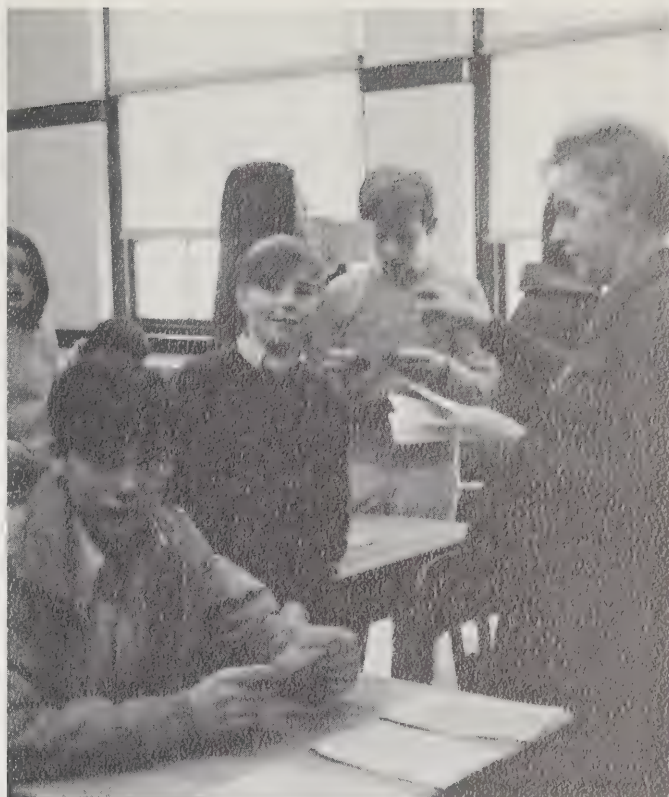

Fred Chin concentrates on an assignment which is due at the end of the class period.

"Knowledge is power." Knowledge is ever-present and omnipresent. The purpose of seeking an education is to gain knowledge. Resources are many. From personal experience and relationships with others, knowledge is gained. But also important is the knowledge we obtain from quiet study and textbook reading.

DISAPPOINTMENT

One of the most important days at Briscoe is the day when report cards are handed out. To be awarded First Honors a pupil must receive an "A" in two major subjects, and to receive Second Honors he must have an "A" in one major subject. In both cases all other marks must be "B". Citizenship honors are granted to those who receive 4 "H's" in citizenship, three of which must be in major subjects.

It is apparent that many of us work hard to obtain these honors, since Briscoe's honor roll is always lengthy.

The first report card! Several pupils in Mrs. Pearse's homeroom seem very pleased with theirs, while others look more disappointed.

FUN.

While other pupils are reviewing class notes, David Vincent turns around to ask his neighbor about the homework assignment.

Part of the fun at Briscoe is associating with our peers. From involvement in committees and extra-curricular activities and from taking an active role in a class discussion, we learn to accept ourselves as individuals. We develop an awareness of others and their needs.

ALL IN ALL, IT IS DIFFICULT FOR SOMEONE NOT TO BECOME EMOTIONALLY INVOLVED AT BRISCOE.

Briscoe Junior High School is not just a building into which a young adult walks and immediately becomes a student for six hours. Briscoe is a way of life. We may find moments of solitude, happiness, boredom, and perhaps frustration, but certainly not one of us can leave Briscoe without many fond memories of our three years here.

One of the highlights of the year is the annual Student-Faculty basketball game. Students voice their emotions loudly and clearly - urging their classmates to defeat the faculty team. Win or lose, both sides enjoy the amusing episodes the game provides.

Of Education

ADMINISTRATION

The year, 1971, has been described as a year of challenge. It seems that there is so much to be done in securing peace, in preserving our environment and deriving the fullest advantage from our priceless heritage of American citizenship that we must devote ourselves wholeheartedly to the tasks at hand. Today, as never before, our very survival as a free and productive people depends upon our ability to adjust to the present and to prepare for the future. In truth, we must learn if we are to live.

Briscoe Junior High School is dedicated to the preparation of the youth of our city for the responsibilities of citizenship. It is the sincere intent of the administration, the staff, and the student body that the lessons taught and learned will be meaningful and adequate to meet the above needs and goals. To the graduating class, we extend congratulations and a sincere "Well Done." To those who have a year or two more of this school, we give our pledge to work with you and to continue in our efforts to make your stay at Briscoe both pleasant and educationally meaningful.

SOCIAL STUDIES

Mr. M. Carroll
Department Head

Mrs. L. Bellohusen

Mrs. A. Bingham

Mr. R. Brown

Miss L. Maskell

Mrs. C. Ober

Social studies includes a broad variety of topics. Geography is taught to the seventh graders, whereas the eighth graders enjoy studying about the history of the United States. Ninth graders, who study world history, spend a large part of the year examining Asian culture. Films, notes, and library periods help to make the lessons interesting.

Mrs. G. Murray

Mrs. B. Gifford
Mrs. N. Pearse

Mrs. V. Guppy
Mr. D. Sandmann

Mr. D. Kelleher
Mrs. C. Soucy

Miss J.
Leadbetter
Mrs. B. Trudeau

Mrs. L. Podgers
Department Head
Mrs. S. Given

Since each student should have a full knowledge of his native language, English is probably our most emphasized subject. Literature and poetry are part of this study, along with the basic fundamentals of grammar. Dramatizations, special projects, and class discussions have made English more interesting and up-to-date.

READING

Mrs. P. Gromniak

Mrs. L. Seal

Four new teachers - Mrs. DellaVecchio, Mrs. Soucy, Miss Gromniak, and Mrs. Seal - help the seventh graders learn reading five days a week at Briscoe.

They teach the lower and intermediate levels, where the emphasis is on basic reading skills and the SQ3R method, as well as the advanced groups where students practice speed reading and comprehension skills.

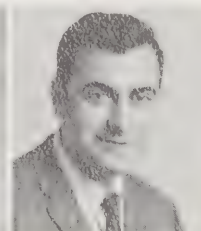

FOREIGN

LANGUAGES

Miss I. Gagnon
Department Head

Mr. A. Bonaiuto

Mr. D. Bodge

Mr. J. Derderian

Knowledge of a foreign language can be an asset to a student, especially if he hopes to travel or enter into some scientific field. The Briscoe foreign language department offers an extended French program as well as German and Introductory Language courses. With the use of the language laboratory, and with expert assistance by his teacher, the student learns to speak and write a foreign language fluently.

SCIENCE

Mr. J. McManus
Department Head

Mrs. B. Casey

Mr. R. Lucien

Mrs. M. Novak

Mr. D. Parella

Mr. C. Pelonzi
Mr. W. Raymond
Mrs. M.
Woodbury

With the ever increasing concern for the problems of pollution, drug abuse, space and ocean research, the Briscoe science department offers a complex, yet interesting course.

The students are taught subjects that will help them meet the challenges of the present and of the future by willing and dedicated instructors. Various filmstrips and a collection of technological books are used.

BUSINESS

Mrs. M. Shepard
Department Head

Mr. P. DeRobertis

Mrs. K. Tomas

Each day, students in the business course are given special training in Business Mathematics and Junior Business Training. These courses help them prepare for such jobs as secretaries, accountants, and bookkeepers.

VOCATIONAL ARTS

Briscoe's home economics department includes classes in both cooking, where lessons on cleaning and table manners are given, and sewing where the pupils also learn about needle-point and pattern cutting.

The industrial arts program covers a broad field of American technology and industry. Project planning, use and economy of materials, and other indispensable information are all part of this course.

Mrs. C. Bates
Department Head

Mrs. E. Tarricone

Mr. D. Doe

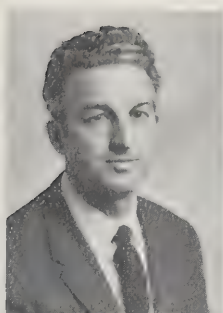

Mr. R. Emmons

Mr. F. Roberts

FINE ARTS

Art is a combination of different activities: watercolors, pastels, paper mache, painting, pottery, and block printing. These activities help pupils gain a broader appreciation of the basic fundamentals of art.

In Briscoe's music course pupils are introduced to a history of music before they study folk and Civil War songs and analyze rock music. Pupils have a chance to practice skills they are taught when they write their own songs.

Mr. C. Allen
Department Head
Mrs. C. Sauvageau

Mrs. P. Darby
Mrs. N. Anderson

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Good health is essential to today's student, and the Briscoe physical education program is designed so that each student can develop a sound body. Various entertainment as well as physical fitness. Through competition, students learn strategies and a sense of fair play.

Mr. L. Gniewek
Department Head

Mr. M. Dodge

Mrs. J. Leslie

Mrs. K. Peebles

LIBRARY

Books are the center of learning, and certainly the Briscoe library is not lacking them. Mrs. McAleer, the librarian, can find a book to fit every interest. Pamphlets, newspapers, magazines, and visual aids are available for reference work. A new selection of up-to-date books on subjects such as drugs and politics have helped to modernize the library.

Mrs. V. McAleer

MATHEMATICS

Miss L. Lucci
Department Head

Mrs. R. Alphen

Mrs. H. Atwood

Mr. J. Gosselin

Mr. R. Loiselle

Miss K. Moore

Mrs. D. Strauss

A knowledge of math is essential for most of today's jobs. Two courses - Modern Math and Elementary Algebra - are offered at Briscoe. Modern Math includes instruction in four basic areas: fractions; percentage; rate; and a condensed section of geometry. This study helps a student discover mathematical principles and also gives him many opportunities to prepare for his career.

To The Faculty

We, the graduating class of 1971, wish to extend to the administration and the faculty of Briscoe, our sincere thanks for the three years of knowledge, guidance and friendship you have given us. To the best of your ability, you have taught us the meaning of good scholarship, citizenship and sportsmanship. You gave us sound advice when we needed guidance, friendship when we were down and discipline when it was asked for. We express our gratefulness to you when you listened to our problems and complaints and tried to improve upon the situation. You have also shown us teachers are human, too, by shouting just as loud as the students at a football game and playing just as hard out on the basketball court and even not knowing an answer once or twice. We, the students can do nothing but benefit from what you have taught us and for this we thank you.

Of Graduation

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS

Tim Hogan - President

Voted by his fellow students as class president, Tim is a popular student. He has been on the honor roll many times. Although he enjoys all of his subjects, algebra is his favorite. Tim was voted Best Athlete and Wolf of his class. In his spare time he enjoys dancing and sports such as football, hockey, and baseball. After college he wishes to become a doctor.

Claire Denton - Vice-President

Claire, elected vice-president of her class, is also secretary of her homeroom. Physical education and history are her favorite subjects. She is also a member of the Ski Club and the BRISCOE BRIEFS staff. Water skiing, swimming, snow skiing, and basketball are some of her hobbies.

Carol Harvey - Secretary

Carol, a popular and active student, was elected the best-dressed girl by her classmates. Carol is an office aide, a member of the Student Council, and an enthusiastic member of the Ski Club. In her spare time she enjoys skiing and swimming. After she finishes school, she hopes to be a lawyer.

Kim Harding - Treasurer

Kim is well-qualified for the office of class treasurer since she has been homeroom treasurer during her three years here. Outside of school, sports rate high with Kim. After she finishes school, Kim would like to become a commercial pilot.

John Donlon

John was chosen to represent scholarship this year. He enjoys playing intramural hockey and basketball, and he is an active member of the Student Council. Algebra is his favorite subject. John was runner-up for the superlative category, Most Likely To Succeed. We all hope he will succeed in becoming an engineer.

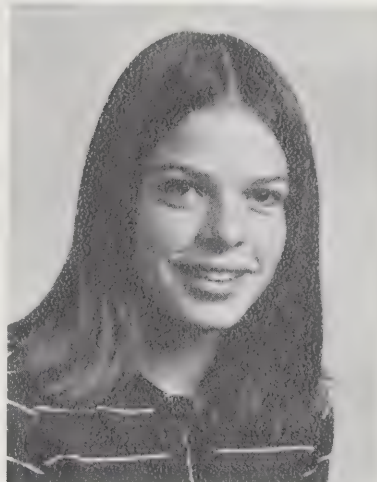

Kevin Churchill

Kevin, a student well-suited for the Activities Key, participates in year-round activities. Hockey, basketball, football, skiing, and baseball are some of his favorite sports. He enjoys all his subjects, especially history and English. He hopes to become a commercial artist.

BRISCOE KEYS

Diane Gilligan

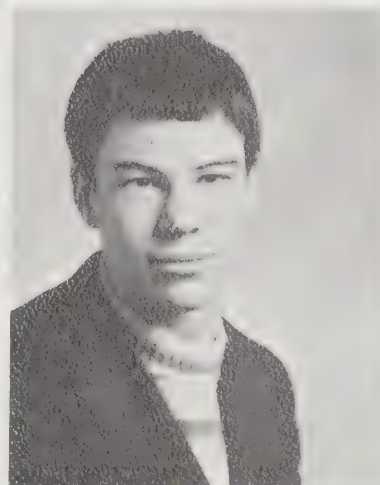

Diane was an excellent choice for the Master Key. Chosen by her teachers and classmates, she tries to do her best for them. Diane has cheered the football team to victory for two years. Skiing, basketball, swimming, and tennis are her favorite sports, whereas English, art, and physical education are the school subjects she enjoys most. Diane wants to be an art teacher when she finishes school.

Julie Anderson

Julie is an excellent choice for the Friendship Key since she is quite popular with her fellow students. History and French are her favorite subjects, although she enjoys most of her school work. She has been on the honor roll quite often. Julie is on the yearbook staff and is a member of the Student Council. Julie would like to be a teacher when she finishes school.

Peter Hutt

Peter was a fine choice for the Fair Play Key this year. He has been involved in many sports during his three years at Briscoe: football, basketball, and track. Peter is a member of the Student Council and Ski Club. He hopes to become a physical education teacher.

IN A MIRROR

Who is that looking at me?
He is staring.
I do not really recognize this face.
He is searching.

What is he looking for?
It is not here.
The face smiles at me, knowingly.
I realize it.

Who is that looking at me?
It is myself. Growing up.

WHAT IS LIFE

What is life really?
Is it a child's fantasy?
Death, War, or Peace?
Does it begin when you're born?
Does it die when you die?
You tell me.
What is life?

MIRACLES OF OLD

Th ocean breeze went wistfully by,
And the gulls soared high in the sky.
And the crystals of sand looked like the crust
Of a blueberry pie just ready to bust.

The sky was bright blue,
And all around flowers grew.
And the newly painted benches overlooking the sea
Were just waiting for someone to sit on with glee.

So as we all see nature's world unfold,
Let us all try the miracles of old.

Of Participation

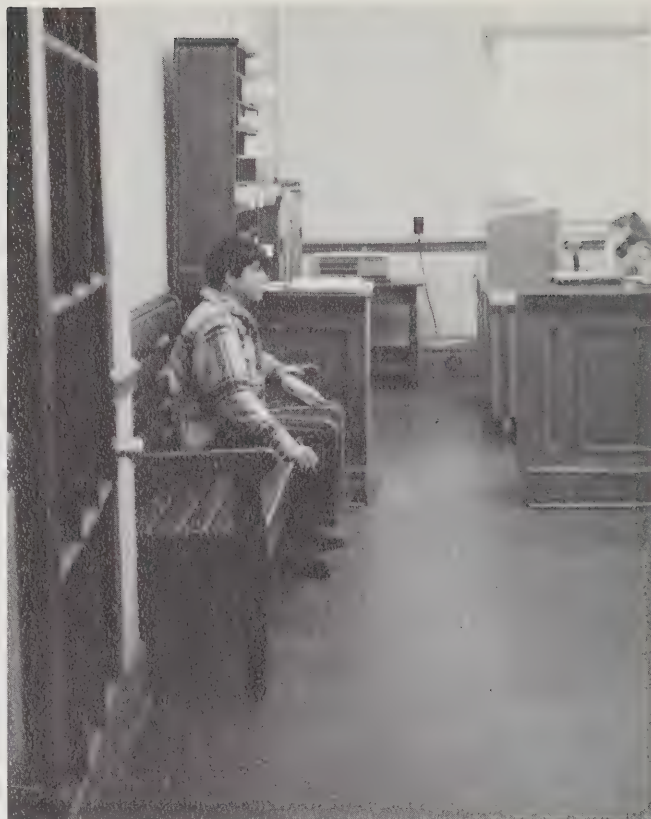

Administrators, teachers, counselors, pupils . . . all participate at Briscoe.

Few of us can forget the agony of being sent to the office or the tenseness we feel when a test is distributed.

I can't say I wasn't unnerved by the somewhat vulgar and abrupt proclamation addressed to myself by my teacher, but who was to suggest why and for what purpose I was wanted? One must never, as some scholarly academician put it, jump to conclusions. It is dangerous as well as imprudent. But still, being my usual pessimistic self, I had an unearthly feeling of impending doom, my senses of which have never failed me. I do not claim I am a medium or of such psychic matter, but I do have remarkable premonitions which, on the whole, have been reliable. Was there, on the other hand, any feasible explanation for summoning me, a pupil in the process of studying such imperative topics as Belgium's cows (which I find very unrewarding), to the disconcerting, autocratic, cubicle crypt referred to as the office? Perhaps, you say, look on the bright side. A letter or message. A found article. No, I do not engage in self-deception. I must face up to the unpleasant matter. I, in a blind rage, smashed a window which was rather large in size (and costly). They have inquired, and finally they have found out. What made me do it, you say? Compulsion. Foolishness. Plagues of mankind. What made me think they wouldn't catch me? What did I, a reasonably logical person, hope to obtain? Fools and their folly. My story? My excuse? Playing innocent is foolish and obvious. This loathsome bench! Why will they not take me? Am I to be laughed at? Yes. Laugh at my misfortune. Laugh, all of you hypocrites. I broke your precious window. Broke - broke - broke it. Grill me, torture me, do as you please. Have no mercy. Why must I suffer as a condemned man awaiting his trial. Come. You. Take me away. Cease your mockery. Take me from this hideous bench. "Are you the boy from #328?" Say no more. I confess. The verdict is guilty guilty guilty . . . "We've found your math book"

-John Persinos

One student awaits his confrontation in solitude.

SOMEBODY GIVE ME THE ANSWER, QUICK!

I walk into class cautiously. Sitting down quickly, I reach for my book and frantically leaf through the pages.

"Close your books and take everything off your desks!" the teacher booms. He passes out the paper slowly, smiling at us, seemingly enjoying our grim mood.

Here it sits on my desk. We never learned any of this! I study the questions carefully. Last night my homework was elementary; I knew everything. Why is my mind a blank? Maybe I've got amnesia. That's it! I'll tell the teacher I have amnesia and he'll excuse me from taking the test.

"Get busy!" the voice again booms. I abandon my idea quickly.

"Get busy" I repeat to myself, over and over. My pencil sets to work. I am finally accomplishing something.

At last, the final question. I love you Question 65! We pass our answer sheets and test papers to the front. Waves of relief sweep over me. A terrible thought stabs through my peaceful mind. What if I flunk, or even get a D? I am once again miserable. Oh, the agony! I suffer silently, thinking of the consequences of this catastrophe test. "It's not fair," I want to wail.

Hearing the rustle of papers around me, I realize that it is almost time to leave. I return to the real world with a start, my mood lightening. "I did my best," I lecture myself. The bell rings. Oh that blessed sound, so dear to every student's heart.

I walk out of class and into the mad rush of the deafening corridor. I am suddenly poked in the back.

"How was the test?" my friend asks. "Real hard?"

"Oh, it was easy, no problem," I reply, strolling down the corridor towards my next class and another test.

-Krista McLeod

Mrs. Woodbury, a science teacher, smiles before she hands out the test papers.

"Why is my mind a blank? Maybe I've got amnesia."

During the year some activities deserve special attention

STUDENT-FACULTY GAME

Briscoe's 70-71 student-faculty game was held on February 12, the last day before February vacation. This annual event attracted many Briscoe students who enjoyed watching the exciting game of basketball between students and teachers. When the men teachers played the boys' team, the teachers won by a wide margin with a score of 68 to 44. The girls' basketball team, however, defeated the women teachers with a score of 10 to 8.

Mike Connaughton holds a large carton at the Student-Faculty basketball game while Diane Gilligan draws two tickets. The winners receive tickets to a Bruins game.

Hoping to make a point for the men's team, Mr. Gilligan aims carefully.

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL

For three weeks this fall, intramural basketball games were played in the gymnasium after school under the direction of Mr. Sherriff and Mr. Dodge. About six or seven boys represented each homeroom. Each game lasted about twelve minutes. The victorious ninth grade room was 216, 116 won the eighth grade intramurals and homeroom 322 won the seventh grade championship. The games proved to be enjoyable for all

PARENTS' NIGHT

Last November 9 approximately 400 parents came to visit the teachers. Although there weren't any special projects on display, there were the usual exhibits of students' work in each room.

Briscoe teachers always try to improve themselves professionally. Mrs. Bingham had quite an experience last year

Last year Mrs. Bingham, a social studies teacher, spent a year in Pakistan. This year she gave her classes a great deal of information. She said that 89 dollars a year is the average income for people of Pakistan though cost of living of course is much less than in the United States. For example, a barber cuts man's hair for 12¢ at home or 6¢ on the sidewalk downtown. But there is a contrast between the wealthy and poor. Over the wall that surrounds the new hotels and residences, she said, one can see little mud huts with no sewage, water, or electricity. There are beautiful modern cars in the cities, but at the same time one may see carts drawn by bullocks or water buffalo. Along the canal it is not uncommon to see ponies bathing, women washing clothes and children filling jars of water to drink.

From big and little mosques one hears the Muezzin sing his plaintive call to prayer from the minaret in Arabic five times a day. He says, "There is but one God, Allah, and Mohammed is his prophet - Allah is Great". Most people accept their Moslem religion as the most important thing in their lives, second only to getting enough to eat!

There are some pro-Chinese Communists but most Moslems care too much about their religion to accept Communism. A dictatorship in all respects controls the government.

In Pakistan, there is no compulsory education but a few public schools take care of students who desperately want to learn. Only one in five can read and about 80% are illiterate in the country.

Mrs. Bingham taught at the American school and lived at a college. She said she feels students from all over the world value learning highly. They have a desire to be of service in other areas, and they have pride in their country and a desire to help build a better world.

Perhaps our teachers aren't aware that they have favorite sayings, but

Mrs. Guppy: "I'm waiting . . ."

Mrs. Strauss: "Oh, really?"

Mr. Carroll: "So that's that."

Mrs. Given: "I know it's a lot of work, but . . ."

Mr. Pelonzi: "Now I'm trying to communicate with you . . ."

Miss Peebles: "Now seriously, girls"

Mr. Gosselin: "Beautiful!"

Mr. Sheriff: "What time does this period get over?"

Seventeen new teachers joined the Briscoe staff this year. . . .

MISS JUDITH ANDERSON attended Lowell State College where she majored in Music. This is her first teaching position.

MRS. ANDREA DELLA VECCHIO attended Boston University and Salem State College. She taught at Beverly High School before coming to Briscoe.

MR. DONALD DOE worked for Ben Smith Printers in Boston before coming to Briscoe. This is his first teaching experience.

MISS PATRICIA GROMNIAK received her B.S. at the University of Connecticut and her M.S. at Northeastern University. Before coming to Briscoe she taught in Salisbury, Maryland; Schenectady, New York; and New Bedford, Massachusetts.

MR. RAYMOND EMMONS attended Northeastern University and Lowell Technological Institute. He worked at the Raytheon Company for many years, while teaching engineering at night school.

MR. DANIEL KELLEHER holds a B.A. degree from Merrimack College. He taught in Pittsfield for two years before coming to Briscoe.

MRS. GAIL MURRAY is a graduate of Boston University. She was a student teacher in Somerville before coming to Briscoe.

MRS. MARILYN NOVAK was graduated from Newark State College in New Jersey. For one year she taught at the Maplewood Junior High School in Maplewood, N.J.

MR. DONALD PARELLA attended Northeastern University, Boston University, and Salem State College. He has had past teaching experience in Swampscott and Rowley.

MR. DAVID SANDMANN acquired a B.S. degree at the West Chester State College in West Chester, Pennsylvania. He has had experience in the United States Navy and as the Director of Youth Program for Y.M.C.A.

MRS. CLAIRE SAUVAGEAU is a graduate of the Massachusetts College of Art. She has had previous experience in commercial and technical art as an illustrator, art director, and free-lance artist.

MRS. LINDA SEAL holds an A.B. degree at Colby College. She also took courses at U.C.L.A. and Salem State College, after which she joined the Peace Corps, and went to Ethiopia.

MRS. CAROLYN SOUCY holds B.S. and M.ED. degrees from Salem State College. She has also taken courses at Boston University. Before coming to Beverly, she had eleven years teaching experience in Lynn. She taught reading under the Federal Reading Project and the Tutorial Reading Project.

MRS. DEBORAH STRAUSS received her education at Salem State College. For a period, she was a student teacher at Cobbet Junior High School in Lynn.

MRS. EDITH TARRICONE graduated from Regis College, where she majored in food and institutional management. For a short time she worked for the S. S. Pierce Co. in Boston.

MRS. KAREN TOMAS graduated from Salem State College in 1969 with a B.S. degree. She taught briefly at the Reading High School before coming to Briscoe.

MISS BARBARA TRUDEAU, a graduate of Salem State College, holds an A.A. degree in English. Last year she was a student-teacher at the Danvers High School.

FOOTBALL TEAM

Our Briscoe football team ended a fantastic season this year with a record of four wins, no ties, and two losses. The boys that were selected from the many candidates worked extremely hard all year. Mr. Roberts did a great job producing a line this year, while Mr. Dodge worked with his backfield.

The boys opened the season against Salem. Numerous fumbles and broken plays lost the game. Salem scored one touchdown in that game, but Briscoe's defense didn't give any ground.

The boys were ready for the next game against Peabody. The team pulled so far ahead that everyone had a chance to play. Briscoe got its first win that day.

The next game against Haverhill was the toughest game yet. The defense kept coming and won with a safety.

One of Briscoe's best games in the early part of the season was against Lawrence. Briscoe players gave up one touchdown but then came back with two scores and won.

The Briscoe-Lynn game was the most exciting game of the season, since no one knew which team was going to win until the last few minutes of the game. Lynn came out on top.

The last game, an annual affair, was against Memorial. Briscoe players put everything into this game for it was the last game of the year. Briscoe won decisively, 38 to 0.

Coach

The football captains, a select group of five star players, often assume a great deal of leadership. Sometimes they lead the exercises before the games, and often they help their teammates perfect their skills. These ninth graders also keep up team morale.

In late September, the newly picked team started exercising and getting ready for the coming football season. Mr. Roberts and Mr. Dodge worked hard every afternoon strengthening the Briscoe offense and defense. These two coaches take pride in Briscoe's football team and are pleased with Briscoe's many victories.

BOYS' BASKETBALL TEAM

The Briscoe basketball team had a disappointing season this year. Although Briscoe faced some very formidable opponents, Coach Sheriff felt the team did not show consistency. Briscoe's record was 5 and 8 with the Rockport game being considered a scrimmage. The coach felt that the team played very well at times but the players usually found themselves playing catch-up basketball. He went on to say, "We outshot most of our opponents but couldn't outscore them and that's the name of the game." It is apparent from his statement that the team did not shoot for a good percentage.

On the brighter side, Briscoe did win the city title once again by defeating Memorial in both the home and away games. The second game was an extremely close affair with Memorial leading most of the way. Briscoe had to foul out 5 of Memorial's ballplayers before pulling the game out 60 to 59.

This year's captains were Michael Connaughton and William O'Keefe. Varsity team members were Richard Richmond, Mark Cronan, Francis Lavigne, Robert Pero, David Illingworth, Anthony Miranda, Bruce Nardella, Brian Nardella, Stephen Rossi, Brad Bertucci, Stephen Kaylor, Charles Gansenburg and Peter Hayes.

This year the girls' basketball team consisted of twenty-seven girls -- eleven varsity and sixteen junior varsity. The junior varsity won all their games except for one against Shore Country Day School and one against Memorial. The varsity won four of their five games.

Under the expert supervision of Miss Peebles and Mrs. Leslie, the two coaches, the team learned good sportsmanship and teamwork. The girls improved immensely during the season. The three student managers -- Claire Denton, Ann Morrison, and Gail Grondin -- helped keep the team in high spirits as well as keeping score and time.

This year's cheerleaders have cheered the football and basketball teams on to another victorious season. Practicing almost every day before the games, the girls learned many new cheers and composed quite a few themselves. They attended every game, some of which lasted until after dark.

The cheerleading squad consisted of ten ninth graders and two eighth graders. In addition, the girls had an alternate-Pauline DiVincenzo, an eighth grade substitute-who attended almost all the practices. Although she never had to cheer, she was always ready to take the place of any girl who was unable to participate at a game.

CROSS COUNTRY TEAM

Although considered by many a tiring sport, running keeps the body trim. The Cross Country team had a great year. Their official record was two wins and one loss. The team defeated Peabody with a wide margin and downed Lowell. They did lose the one game to Salem, and another to the high school junior varsity team.

To end a great year, Briscoe and Memorial combined to place second in the state tourney.

Special recognition goes to John Tonneson, top performer for the eighth grade, and Mike Whalen, the ninth grade's most consistent winner.

SKI CLUB

The Ski Club was a great success this year. Such a large turnout had not been expected. With over a hundred members participating at times, it became quite a group activity.

During the winter there was great skiing. The "Briscoe skiers" took advantage with trips to Sunapee, Pat's Peak, Loon Mountain and Onset. Skiers left early in the morning, and returned about seven o'clock in the evening. They came home tired, but all looked forward to the next Saturday trip.

The Ski Club, which has many seventh and eighth grade members, is sure to be a success next season.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Student Council Officers

BOTTOM ROW: Scott Clark, Vice-President; Diane Gilligan, President. SECOND ROW: Karen Barnico, Secretary; Mrs. Joanne Leslie, Student Council Advisor; Kathy Fortunato, Treasurer.

This year's Student Council has been very active. Early in November a cake sale was held at the Myles McPherson Youth Center. Students, parents and teachers all helped by baking and selling the food. The money from the sale was used to help meet the cost of publishing the BRISCOE BRIEFS.

Mrs. Joanne Leslie, the Student Council advisor, helped the Council perform its many functions. The Council's most successful fund-raising project was the Student-Faculty basketball game which was held just before February vacation.

This year's Student Council's officers were Diane Gilligan, President; Scott Clark, Vice-President; Karen Barnico, Secretary; and Kathy Fortunato, Treasurer.

BRISCOE BRIEFS STAFF

This year's 1970-71 BRISCOE BRIEFS staff was composed of seventeen students who were chosen during the spring of 1970. As well as working hard to put out the best yearbook possible, these pupils participated in class discussions and did class work.

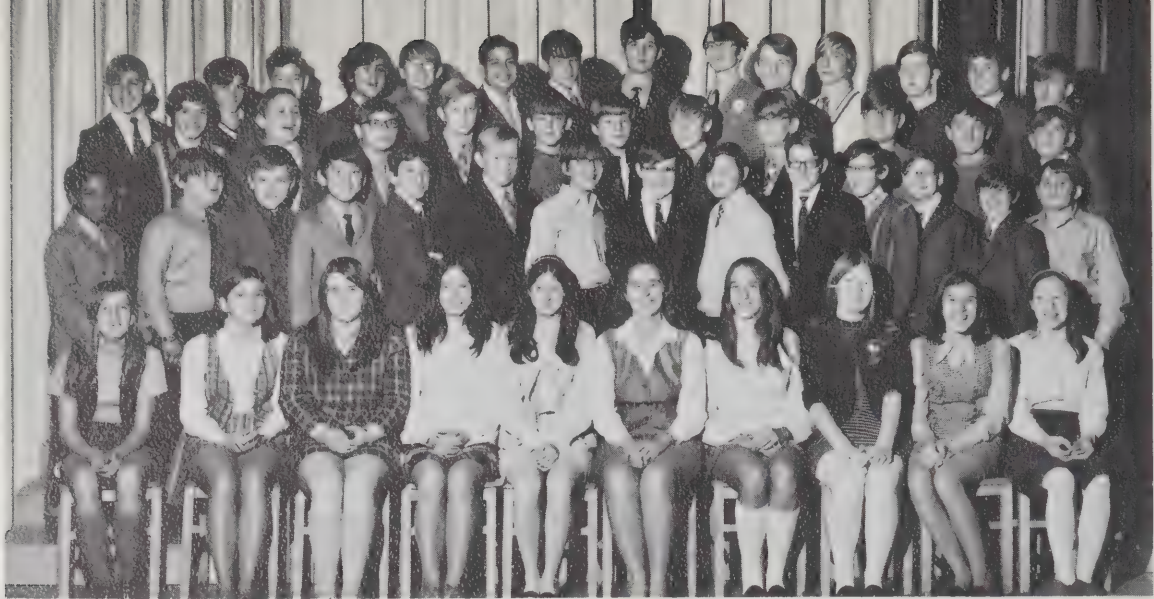

Members of the staff were divided into committees and each group selected a division of the yearbook to work on. The divisions included the following: opening, student life, faculty, graduates, underclassmen, sports, activities and the closing.

John Maihos and Danny Chansky were a great help to the staff. In their spare time they took photographs for the opening and student life section of the book.

With the aid of Mrs. Susan Given, yearbook advisor, Francine Foss, editor-in-chief, and the two assistant editors, Maryanne Boynton and Julie Anderson, the yearbook took shape. The editor and two assistant editors had the responsibility of directing the groups and solving problems as they arose.

BRISCOE BAND AND BRASS

The Briscoe Band has developed tremendously this year. Mrs. Patricia Darby, the band director, worked each afternoon with either the band or the Briscoe Brass, a selected group of band members.

Consisting of almost fifty members, the band performed at most of the school assemblies and made them more enjoyable. The band members and members of the chorus worked very hard to prepare two concerts. The first was held in December and the second was given in the spring.

CHORUS

This year the chorus, under the direction of Miss Judith Anderson, was divided into two sections which met during seventh period. A special chorus, which met after school every Tuesday, was also formed. This consisted of approximately thirty girls who were also part of the regular chorus. These girls practiced choral selections which were presented at the Thanksgiving and Christmas assemblies. Both choruses participated in a winter concert. Their accompanist was Joyce Hemeon.

During the day the chorus uses the auditorium to practice.

FAREWELL

Farewell

Come my children, it's time to go-
The horizons of tomorrow are beckoning,
Silently waiting commands of new leaders.
Ours is the future to do with as we will;
Ours is the power, in the use of knowledge.
These walls were only a milestone,
Connecting the past with now.
But we shall leave them behind us,
One step in many on the road of life.
Farewell to yesterday.

-Sue Kelly

The end. Is this the end or just the beginning for us? That is the question each of us must answer, each in our own way. True, this is the final page of our yearbook. However, in these pages is our year, our thoughts, our feelings and no one can end these if we wish to have them live on in our memory. Joy, sorrow, tension and fun are all expressed in this book. If anyone reads this book and finds none of these ideas expressed, he cannot truly have ever been a part of Briscoe.

The ninth grade class leaves Briscoe to begin a totally new and different life at the high school. Our experiences and lessons have, we hope, prepared us fully for this new environment.

The seventh and eighth graders will return, bringing with them their summer memories. They will be soon involved in another year at Briscoe.

Time will pass, some people will forget, but as long as there is one person who remembers the school year of 1970-71 at Briscoe Junior High School, it will not truly end.
